

Crypto-Magique Inc. - Investment and Transactions

As for people investing, certainly it is envisioned that common shares can be issued to key personnel, in addition to people who join as members, and other types of membership. Various accounts, profit sharing options, dividends and other types of compensation are possible, even for someone not investing. More details are available to private members concerning private equity and venture capital, asset protection and management and an incredible range of options concerning capital structure and securities, plus options for business, enterprise, technology, products and services.

Key people, are the people that are or become a part of this enterprise. This can work as a bonus to acquire or retain personnel, and also add compensation and of course build a greater more relevant investment portfolio. All the corresponding securities and transactions are possible with various ownership, control, voting and management options.

This is not available everywhere, but it is part of this enterprise built in at the beginning. Many kinds of revenue streams can be created, so that the various forms of investment, not just time or money, such as intellectual capital can create greater wealth and strategic enterprise development. With this ideal, the exchange of time for money will be augmented and new ways of creating wealth will be normal, challenging for some, and rewarding for all. This is long term thinking, revenue streams, bonus, new opportunities and corresponding associated revenue streams with that, it can get better.

Furthermore, a new and better strategy is required to avoid burnout, too many hours. With the money and revenue in place, resources can exist to compensate people immediately, in addition to those associated revenue streams. That is all part of the code...the wealth generating code. No employees, no unions, no super imposed over control except and common vision.

The common vision involves working share owners, private investors with expertise...that is where it is at. Investors can transform their investment into greater wealth by various means depending on the capital structure or securities, and also greater opportunity in the future. Investors have financial and non-financial investment contributions...this goes way beyond traditional stock market operations.

As individuals involved in private equity and venture capital, and those who participate in a development and or buying group, there really are no limits as to what is possible, especially as everything is always in trust, unless it is spent or allocated somewhere else.

We aim to keep things simple, dynamic, awesome, relevant and rewarding. No bullshit stock market risks, complexities, with non-existent or loss of command and control, no complicated hard to understand language, although you may learn a few new terms, no small print, disappearing ink or other clever writing to deny your ownership, control and voting power.

Now of course, the kind of financial privacy without parallel is something built in, as this really is personal, enterprise, industry and national security. The government is not doing it, financial institutions are not doing it, globalist transnationals are not doing it, we are doing it. We the people...

Naturally with common shares, there exists various forms of capital structure, which has various types of securities that can be acquired, depending on preference, needs, availability or otherwise.

Crypto-Magique Inc. - Investment and Transactions

All of those securities are in trust in that really awesome entities utilized for private equity and venture capital, where private membership enables all kinds of awesome advantages.

This means your intellectual, financial or non-financial capital is always protected and always in trust, you are the co-trustee, you have all the power and control, just like you should with an open source operating system with all the aspects of hardware, software, communication and everything you can imagine. So, no matter what happens to you in your life, the assets you have and the wealth you build, regardless of the type and amount of investment, is always in your command and control and has awesome provision for any type of scenario, just to ensure that what you want is the way it is, always.

For those that need to know, hard currency is legal tender and is always an option. Regardless of the investment currency, transaction records are always provided, and all the details that go along with that, so the confidence, trust and performance of anything can always be validated, just like good open source code can be, the trust and verify audit is something you can write home about.